

As residents of the UK we are all used to enjoying our world renowned countryside. More than 75% of our land area is countryside and although some wild areas remain, most is managed for agriculture, recreation or nature conservation. Agriculture is by far the greatest land use and produces 60% of the food that we consume.

But our countryside heritage needs protection to ensure that the food produced and the native wildlife can be conserved and improved for future generations to enjoy.

WORKING TO SECURE THE FUTURE OF BRITAIN'S FARMED LANDSCAPE

The Farming and Wildlife Advisory Group (FWAG) – a registered charity – has been supporting the farmers that manage our countryside for the past 40 years. By providing them with environmental management expertise coupled with an understanding of the farming business we can ensure that the future generations will be able to enjoy a countryside which not only provides good food, but is also rich in wildlife and landscape.

Tim Piper, a farmer from Kent who has received FWAG advice confirms "Since implementing the FWAG conservation plan the population of brown hares, barn owls and winter visiting birds has definitely increased on my farm".

You don't have to be a farmer to play your part in conserving our landscape and wildlife for future generations. Leaving FWAG a gift in your Will is just one way that you can support our work with farmers.

The importance of making a Will cannot be underestimated. If you die without leaving a Will your assets, such as your home, valuables, savings and investments, may not pass on to your family and friends and a large proportion may disappear in Inheritance Tax. Making a Will gives you peace of mind that your wishes have been followed.

YOU CAN HELP TOO by leaving FWAG a Gift in your Will

There are two main ways that you can leave FWAG a gift in your Will. Both of these gifts would be free of Inheritance Tax:

Residuary Gift – you can leave us a percentage of your estate after other gifts have been made

Pecuniary Gift – you can specify how much money you would like us to receive, ie £5,000

And if you want your Gift to remain anonymous we will of course respect this confidentiality.

For further advice on making a Will please contact a solicitor, accountant or Will-writing service.

Your Gift to FWAG could help us in a variety of ways, and means that we can provide advice on:

- Preserving and creating vital habitats and inspiring farmers to gain a greater awareness of and responsibility for the wildlife living on their land
- Protecting our natural resources such as air, soil and water
- Reducing carbon emissions produced by agriculture and assisting farmers to adapt to climate change
- How all of the above actions can be taken alongside a profitable business producing food for a growing population.

HOW YOUR GIFT WOULD BENEFIT OUR COUNTRYSIDE AND WILDLIFE

Andy Ormiston, Managing Director of FWAG, says "A Gift to FWAG of any size is valuable to our charity and we are grateful to all of our donors for their support. As the pressure increases on the countryside to produce more and more food, advice from FWAG is vital to ensure that our wildlife continues to thrive, pollution is prevented and our landscape remains as beautiful as it is today for generations to come".

FURTHER INFORMATION ABOUT FWAG OR MAKING A GIFT IN YOUR WILL

If you are a farmer you may also be interested in receiving advice from FWAG or becoming a member of our organisation.

We have a full coverage of advisers in England, Wales and Northern Ireland and a network of county groups that are run by dedicated farmer volunteers. FWAG values the "partnership approach" to wildlife conservation and works in close co-operation with many other like-minded organisations.
